These maps signal the opening of four more sections-eight of thirteen are now open-of the Northeast's new 740-mile Northern Forest Canoe Trail, a paddle route of unique beauty and adventure. *The official trail maps, produced by the organization that conceived, coordinated and developed it *Flows through New York, Vermont, Quebec, New Hampshire, and Maine *Maps include put-in points, portages, campsites, local contact information, and permit guidelines *Water- and tear-resistant color contour maps offer detailed route descriptions Flagstaff Lake Region: Maine, Rangeley Lake to Spencer Stream (Trail section 9): This section of the trail follows the Dead River, with the shallow waters of Flagstaff Lake bulging out from the middle and covering three frontier communities that were flooded in Maine's quest for reliable hydro-power. Paddlers on this section will view the Bigelow range which includes many of Maine's highest peaks and where the Appalachian Trail crosses a distant ridge line. A special treat on this section is Grand Falls, a spectacular 30-ft. waterfall (see cover photo of this map) that you'll spend time portaging around.

Invaluable for anyone attempting what is a long and difficult route just beginning to attract interest among boaters. -- Hartford (CT) Courant About the Author The Waitsfield, Vermont-based nonprofit Northern Forest Canoe Trail organization began developing the Trail in 2000 to be a recreational resource for paddlers, as well as a means to celebrate the history and culture of the Northern Forest region and provide an economic development driver for communities there.
