O'Neill and his wife Virginia (his editor and travel companion!) are knowledgeable and well-educated people. They know how to describe travel on freighters that spell out the pros and cons (but mostly the pros!) of this reasonably price world travel. Freighter travel is not luxury travel, but you get to know the crew, you get to visit places that regular liners never go to. You meet interesting fellow travelers (there are only about 5 or 6 passengers per ship. And you explore without the standard tourist type of guided tours. Oh how I wish I could go on a freighter (age requirements: up to around 75 years of age??) A must-buy book!
