From BooklistGrey Houses Profiles of . . .series is a reconfiguration of the four-volume Profiles of America, which compiled community-by-community information for all 50 states. Each state volume provides statistical information for all populated places in the state and all counties plus sections on education, ancestry, Hispanic and Asian populations, and climate. There is also a collection of maps. Numbers are taken from the 2000 census, but many have been updated with figures for 2006. --Mary Ellen Quinn
